

BROTHERHOOD HEADS CANCEL STRIKE ORDER

SENATE PASSES BILL WITHOUT AMENDMENT

WILSON WILL SIGN MEASURE AT WHITE HOUSE THIS MORNING

Officials Decide Not to Await President's Signature Before Calling Off Strike—Efforts to Amend Bill Futile—No Indication of What Steps, If Any, Will Be Taken to Test Constitutionality of Law.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The threat of a general railroad strike which has been hanging like a pall over the country for a month was lifted tonight. Three hours after the senate had passed without amendment the Adamson 8-hour day bill passed the house yesterday, the heads of the four great railroad employes' brotherhoods telegraphed six hundred odd code messages to their general chairmen in all parts of the country cancelling the strike order issued a week ago to take effect next Monday morning at 7 o'clock.

Pass Bill Amid Stirring Scenes.
The legislative expedient to avert the strike was passed in the senate by a vote of 43 to 28—almost a strict party vote—amid stirring scenes, after many senators, Democrats and Republicans, had fought desperately to amend the measure by provisions designed to prevent industrial disasters in the future. Some senators, however, declared Congress was being coerced into enactment of legislation that it did not desire and that it knew would return to plague it in the future.

In both houses the measure was signed within a few minutes after the final vote in the senate and it was sent at once to the white house where President Wilson will sign it at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning after his return from Shadow Lawn. Officials of the brotherhoods who witnessed the final passage of the bill had announced early in the night that cancellation of the strike would be ordered until the bill had been signed by the president and actually had become law. But later they conferred, changed their minds and flashed the code message signalling to the waiting trainmen of the country thru their chairmen the message that a satisfactory settlement had been obtained.

The bill that stopped the strike provides that after January 1, 1917, eight hours shall be regarded as a basis of reckoning for a day's pay of men engaged in the operation of railroad trains in interstate commerce (excepting roads less than 100 miles long and electric lines) that they shall receive pro rata pay for work in excess of eight hours and that their rate of compensation shall not be changed pending an investigation for six or nine months of the effect of the eight hour day upon the railroads by a commission to be appointed by the president.

Efforts To Amend Bill Futile.
Efforts to amend the bill in the senate were futile, the supreme effort to alter it having been led by Senator Underwood, who sought to provide that the interstate commerce commission should have power to fix railroad wages and hours of service in the future. This amendment was defeated by a vote of 57 to 14.

Only two Democrats, Senators Hardwick of Georgia, and Clark of Arkansas voted against the bill and one Republican, La Follette of Wisconsin, voted for it.

The roll call follows:

For the Bill.
Democrats—Ashurst, Hunkhead, Beckham, Bryon, Chamberlain, Chilton, Culberson, Fletcher, Hitchcock, Hughes, Husting, Johnson (South Dakota), Kern, Lane, Lea (Tenn.), Lee (Maryland), Lewis, Martin, Myers, Newlands, Overman, Phelan, Pittman, Pomerene, Randall, Reed, Robinson, Saulsbury, Sheppard, Shields, Simmons, Smith (Arizona), Smith (Maryland), Smith (South Carolina), Swanson, Taggart, Thomas Thompson, Underwood, Vandaman, Walsh and Williams—42.
Republicans—La Follette—1.
Total—43.

Against the Bill.
Republicans—Borah, Brady, Brandegee, Clapp, Colt, Cummins, Curtis, Dillingham, DuPont, Gallinger, Gronno Jones, Kenyon, McCumber, McLean, Nelson, Norris, Oliver, Penrose, Sherman, Smith (Michigan), Smoot, Sterling, Wadsworth, Warren and Weeks—26.
Democrats—Clarke (Arkansas) and Hardwick—2.
Total—28.

Doubt Legality of Law.
Railroad officials have declared that the action of congress will cost them $60,000,000 a year in increased wages to the trainmen. Brotherhood officials say the enactment will mean not more than an annual increase of $20,000,000. In congress and among the railroad officials there has existed doubt as to the constitutionality of the law, but what steps if any may be taken to test this has not been indicated. The measure embraces virtually all of President Wilson's proposals to the employes and the railroad heads, although it is only a part of the legislative program he took to congress last Tuesday when his negotiations had failed.

Issuance of the orders of cancellation followed a meeting of the four brotherhood heads and thirteen remaining members of their committee of 640.

As quickly as the decision was announced clerks rushed to telegraph offices with arm loads of the code messages, prepared in advance. The original plan to wait until the president and signed the bill before calling off the strike was abandoned in order to facilitate transmission of the messages. It was thought that if the order was not sent out until tomorrow, many small telegraph offices would be closed and that 10,000 or more local chairmen who are to receive messages from the 640 general chairmen, might be advised. The argument was also advanced that newspaper publicity tomorrow would be of great assistance in getting the word to employes who would be affected by the strike.

To Use Four Pens Signing Bill.
The four brotherhood heads were invited tonight to be present tomorrow morning when President Wilson signs the bill. The president will use four pens in affixing his signature and each of the labor leaders will be given one of them afterward as a souvenir.

Although members of congress breathed easier when their task was done, their relief was not so much a demonstration of satisfaction over the legislation enacted as over the immediate results it accomplished. They also were jubilant that at least the way looked cleared for adjournment of congress, but many members of both houses were convinced that with the reassembling in December the question would come up again and that permanent legislation suggested by the president, along the line of compulsory arbitration would be pressed.

The falling of the gavel on the passage of the bill in the senate to night marked the end of a dramatic and precedent-breaking week in congress.

When President Wilson, failing to bring the railroads and brotherhoods to an agreement, turned to congress for relief, he made unannounced trips to the capitol to consult leaders. On Tuesday he addressed a joint session of congress suggesting legislation which included provisions of the bill as passed and provisions for providing means of preventing future difficulties and for handling military trains in the event of a strike. The house on Friday passed only the eight hour bill providing for the investigation.

The Senate interstate commerce committee first drafted tentative bills covering the president's whole program but eventually abandoned all of it and substituted the house measure.

The bill was passed in the senate following determined efforts to amend it.
Republican senators and a few of the Democrats declared unhesitatingly that congress was being coerced, driven under the gun to the passage of the eight hour bill without any provision of a permanent character.

Term Bill a "Brass" Gold Brick.
Others, chiefly Progressive Republicans among them Cummins, Kenyon and Norris, said that labor was getting a bad bargain, "a brass" gold brick, "a humbug," and that they were conceding to congress the right to legislate on the question of wages, a concession which in their

SANTA FE HEAD SORRY STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

RIPLEY DESIRED QUESTION TO COME TO A CRITICAL TEST

Hale Holden, President of Burlington, States Railways Will Not Discommodate the Public by Any Precipitate Actions.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—From Chicago tonight telegrams went to every division point on western railroads informing both railway officials and trainmen that the strike is off. A general attitude of relief was expressed by minor railway officials.

President E. P. Ripley of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway said however, that he was sorry the question had not come to a critical test.

"I am sorry it has been called off," Mr. Ripley said. "The Adamson bill doesn't become effective until January 1st. Between now and then we can decide what to do."

Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy declared the railroads would not discommodate the public by any precipitate action.

"It is my belief," he said, "that we will wait for the government investigation provided by the bill before taking any move against it."

"The cost to the railroads of the threatened strike already has run very high. The loss to the public cannot be estimated at this time but shippers and travellers have suffered inconveniences and monetary loss. I understand the western parks have been practically deserted as a result of the strike threat and that many resort hotels have closed down."

Mr. Holden declared the present legislation by congress a direct result of previous bills which had made labor exempt from the Sherman anti-trust act. An extraordinary situation necessitating large expenditures by the railroads for men tentatively employed as strikebreakers arose as a result of the impending strike, other railway executives said. Men had been contracted with and small sums paid down as well as transportation funds advanced. It was stated. With the strike called off this would be lost to the railroads.

Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central said tonight he expects a conference of attorneys for all of the big railroads will be called soon to discuss action on the Adamson bill.

"This conference probably will determine our course of action," he said.

FORMER JACKSONVILLE MAN ELECTROCUTED IN BLOOMINGTON

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 2.—Ford Winters a lineman employed by the Bloomington and Normal street railway system here was killed by 2500 volts of electricity while working on top of a pole here today.

He was 45 years of age and leaves a widow, mother and daughter in White Hall, Ill.

Mr. Winters was a nephew of Mrs. Frank Goveia of 581 Caldwell street and was employed by the Bell Telephone company in this city several years ago. Mrs. Goveia received a telegram Saturday announcing the death of Mr. Winters but no particulars as to when the funeral will be held were given.

SHERMAN SUPPORTS LOWDEN.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—United States Sen. Lawrence Y. Sherman, aligned himself with the supporters of Frank O. Lowden for governor in a letter made public today by managers of Colonel Lowden. The declaration of the senator was made in an open letter to Orville F. Berry member of the Illinois committee of notification to Charles W. Fairbanks, vice presidential candidate which was given to Berry at the ceremonies in Indianapolis on Thursday.

opinion, the 400,000 trainmen of the organizations affected would not approve if it should be put to them for a vote. But champions of the Adamson bill said in reply that the bill would mean that the strike would not be stopped. This line of argument won the day and not only prevented the adoption of the Underwood amendment but also served to defeat an amendment by Senator Newlands to make interference with operation of railroad trains a misdemeanor punishable by fine and imprisonment and an amendment by Senator La Follette which would make certain that the new law should not be construed to modify the railway service law which does not permit railroad men working more than sixteen hours.

WILSON FORMALLY OPENS CAMPAIGN

Criticises G. O. P. in Speech Accepting Democratic Nomination

DEFENDS HIS POLICIES

Executive Recites the Legislative Achievements of His Administration

CONSTANTLY APPLAUDED

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Sept. 2.—President Wilson today formally opened his campaign for re-election with a speech accepting the Democratic nomination in which he characterized the Republican party as a "practical and moral failure" defended his Mexican and European policies, recited the legislative achievements of his administration and declared for a "big America."

He left Shadow Lawn at 11 o'clock tonight for Washington.

The president was unsparring in his criticism of the Republican party as one of "masterly inactivity and cunning resourcefulness in standing pat to resist change," and said that the old leaders still select its candidates, but he did not mention Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate by name.

The president spoke from the veranda of his summer home to a crowd which filled 3,000 chairs and overflowed to the lawn. His voice could be heard by only a small part of the gathering but those who did hear him constantly interrupted with applause.

Once, when he said "I neither seek the favor nor fear the displeasure of that small alien element amongst us which puts loyalty to any foreign power before loyalty to the United States," his audience stood and cheered.

The notification ceremonies were brought to a dramatic close when more than a score of American flags attached to parachutes were fired in the air by mortars and unfolded over the president's head as a band played "America."

Afterward Mr. Wilson stood more than an hour on the veranda and shook hands with several thousand men, women and children.

Senator James of Kentucky, chairman of the notification committee introduced the president. When he declared that Mr. Wilson had kept America at peace the crowd applauded several minutes. He concluded by handing the president a copy of the St. Louis platform.

Reading slowly but distinctly from a printed copy of his speech and frequently looking up to emphasize points, Mr. Wilson spoke of the Democratic platform as a "definite pledge." Reviewing the achievements of the administration he said:

"Alike in the Democratic field and in the wide field of the commerce of the world, American business and life and industry have been set free to move as they never moved before."

Concluding his list of measures passed by congress in the last three years the president declared:

"This extraordinary recital must sound like a platform, a list of sanguine promises; but it is not. It is a record of promises made four years ago and now actually redeemed in constructive legislation."

The president made a bid for the Progressive vote by saying that "we have in four years come very near to carrying out the platform of the Progressive party as well as our own, for we are also progressives."

Further along, rebuking foreign born Americans who are not loyal to the United States, he said:

"I am the candidate of a party, but I am above all things else an American citizen."

When Mr. Wilson declared that the revolution in Mexico is right, and that so long as its leaders represent, however imperfectly, a struggle for freedom he is ready to serve their ends, the crowd applauded.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 2.—Twenty-five persons were reported injured, several seriously, when a broken rail on the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad at Wilkins switch near Mancelona, Mich., caused nine coaches of the Chicago and Cincinnati Flyer to go over an embankment late tonight.

Automobiles have been requisitioned to bring the injured to Kalkaska and Mancelona. The spot where the wreck occurred is about 50 miles south of Petoskey, the heart of a popular resort district. At a late hour tonight local officials of the road had only meagre reports which did not contain the names of any persons hurt nor indicate whether any had suffered fatal injuries. The vicinity is sparsely settled.

claims, but the fundamental rights of humanity cannot be."

The audience which listened to the president's address included Democratic leaders from every section of the country and delegations from New York, Pennsylvania and other nearby states. Secretary Lansing, Secretary Houston, Secretary McAdoo and Postmaster Burleson represented the cabinet and virtually all the members of the notification committee, the Democratic campaign committee and the associate campaign committee of progressives were present.

Long Branch and West End were decorated in red, white and blue for the occasion. Prior to his speech Mr. Wilson entertained at lunch but tonight he remained at Shadow Lawn with members of his family and his closest advisers until time came for him to depart for Washington.

The president will arrive in Washington early tomorrow and after a stay of three hours, will leave for Hodgenville, Ky., to deliver an address on Monday. He will return to Washington Tuesday afternoon.

When President Wilson was told tonight that eight hour bill was ready for his signature he said:

"It is the climax of a very happy day."

Officials said it would be legal for the president to sign the bill on Sunday.

HUGHES SPEAKS IN ST. LOUIS COLISEUM

REFERS TO POINTS MADE BY WILSON IN ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

Nominee Protests "Against the Extravagant Claim That the Anti-Trust Act was Clarified by Definition of Our Opponents"—Assails Wilson's Mexican Policy.

St. Louis, Sept. 2.—Charles E. Hughes, facing an audience in the Coliseum here tonight that cheered him twenty-one minutes, in his talk referred repeatedly to points made today by President Wilson in his acceptance speech.

"I protest," Mr. Hughes said, "against the extravagant claim that the anti-trust act was clarified by definition of our opponents. They folded themselves up in a vague phrase and presented that as a solution."

"From their claims with respect to child labor legislation you would suppose they had discovered children."

"I am for the protection of children," he said, "I was for it before the present administration was heard of."

"I want to read to you" the nominee said, "what a governor of a state said to a legislature nine years ago. He said: 'I recommend to your careful consideration the important subject of child labor laws for the protection of children in securing for them their rights thru an elementary education and in surrounding them with appropriate safeguards making an especial appeal to human sentiment and that nothing should be left undone to give them full effect.'"

"That I said in the state of New York in 1907."

"I think I know something of child labor and the importance of protecting it. The recent bill passed in congress affects a very small number of children in this country. There remains a vast amount of necessary work to be done by our states before child-labor shall be prohibited to a degree which will safeguard this important asset."

Referring to the federal trade commission law, Mr. Hughes said:

"Here again we are again met with extraordinary claims. I have no quarrel with the composition of the trade commission law but I cannot accept the crude statement that the anti-trust law has been clarified by definition."

"It is said in the federal commission act that unfair methods of competition in commerce are hereby declared unlawful. Now what are unfair methods of competition. Naturally a man in the street would think about fraud. It is not necessary to establish a trade commission to deal with fraud. Fraud has been recognized by the common law since its institution."

"No they are not thinking of fraud. Unfair competition has a different meaning than fraud under the law. We know what it means. In a very simple way of statement it may be said to have goods to methods by which one man's goods are pawned off as the goods of another man thru deceptive statements in advertising and the like."

"Was this law passed to reach those things? Of course not. Talk about clarifying the anti-trust act by definition! Why there is not a business man in the country who knows what that act means or what he should do or not do under it."

The nominee assailed the administration's Mexican policy on the ground that it professed to deal with smaller nations in the same manner as with larger nations.

"It is a profession belied by practice," he said.

"We said to Huerta that he should not even be a candidate at a Mexican election. Is that the way we deal with a great and powerful state?"

Mr. Hughes' address in the Coliseum was the third he had delivered today. The first was at a non-partisan luncheon gathering of business men.

Joseph Smith and son of Springfield are in the city for a visit with Mr. Smith's father, Joseph F. Smith of North Main street.

ROUMANIANS FORCE AUSTRIANS BACK

Vienna Announces Troops Withdraw After Five Day's Heavy Fighting

ZEPPELINS RAID ENGLAND

Entente Ministers at Athens Draft Note for Presentation to Premier Zaimis

REVOLT IN GREECE SPREADS

BULLETIN.
LONDON, Sept. 3.—One of a squadron of German Zeppelins which raided England last night with London and the eastern counties as their objective points, was brought down in flames, an official announcement says. Many bombs were dropped but no reports of casualties have been received.

The statement says: "The attack tonight was made by a larger number of airships than ever previously raided England. The eastern counties of London apparently were their objective. The attack on London was beaten off and one raider was brought down in flames."

"Many bombs were dropped in widely separated localities but no reports of casualties or damage have been received as yet."

In the first hard battle between Rumanian and Austrian troops the Austrians have been forced to retire across the Cerna river, north of Orsova, near the Iron Gate on the Danube. Vienna announces that the Austrian troops withdrew after five days of heavy fighting. In eastern Transylvania the Austrian retirement continues. Hermannstadt has been added to the towns given up to the invading Rumanians. Apparently the Austrians are carrying out their reported plan of shortening the battle line in Transylvania and are giving the Rumanians little opposition except near Orsova.

London announces another Zeppelin over the east coast of England on Saturday night. Few details have been received but bombs were dropped on several places.

The Entente ministers at Athens, says a belated despatch from the Greek capital, have drafted a note for presentation to Premier Zaimis. The note probably was handed to the Greek premier on Saturday. The tenor of its contents is not known.

The arrival of an allied fleet off Thessalonica, the port of Athens, has been followed by the announcement that the flag of France has been hoisted on four German and three Austrian ships in the harbor. Boarding parties from the entente warships seized the vessels.

Altho reports are that the political situation in Greece is growing more serious no announcement of conditions has come either from the Greek government or the entente capitals. The revolt reported in Macedonia is now said to have spread into Thessaly and Epirus over the whole of northern Greece.

Dispatches from Athens say that Premier Zaimis had a lengthy audience with King Constantine Thursday and afterward announced that Greece maintained her policy of friendly neutrality toward the entente allies while awaiting events.

The Greek premier another dispatch says told a committee appointed at a pro-entente mass meeting in Athens that the questions over which they were concerned would be cleared up probably before Saturday morning.

The new Russian offensive in Galicia and Bukovina continues successfully. Against strong resistance Petrograd says the Russians have taken positions forty miles east of Lemberg. Near the Hungarian frontier several heights have been captured.

Attacks by the Russians against the Austro-German lines in Volhynia, Galicia and the Carpathians were repulsed, Berlin says. Some ground was gained north of Thronow, Galicia and nearly 1,500 prisoners have been taken by the armies of Prince Leopold and Archduke Charles.

Announcements of operations on other fronts in Europe show little activity.

Not a Perfect Law.

Senator Morton D. Hu', according to his own statement and the records of the legislature, was very active during his term and aided in a lot of good legislation. It is a question, however, whether or not the senator should take too much credit to himself for the passage of the primary law. When it is considered that the primary has cost the candidates about three millions and a half of dollars and an untold amount of labor and strain, there comes the thought that certainly some sort of a measure could be drafted which would include the good points of the primary law and be minus the features which are costly or otherwise objectionable.

In His Own Room.

A strange proof of the truth in the often quoted sentence, "Cast thy bread upon the waters" was witnessed in the recent death of George Engelbach, of Arenzville. It was related that Mr. Engelbach became suddenly sick in St. Louis and was found on the sidewalk by a policeman, unconscious. A letter from his brother, Dr. William Engelbach, gave a clue to his identity. Dr. Engelbach is on the staff of one of the St. Louis hospitals and so the sick man was taken there and it so happened that he was at once hurried into a room which he had endowed a few years before in the name of his wife. Mr. Engelbach's life went out in the hospital room that his own generosity had made possible and there was no special intention on the part of the hospital authorities to place him in that room.

Lowden and Local Option.

When Charles E. Hughes was a candidate for governor of New York he made no pledge to the voters other than that he would not use his patronage in an effort to influence legislation. This in Mr. Hughes' case did not mean that he would not seek to have an influence in legislation, and after he was elected by the general assembly in its enactments did not measure up to his standards he personally went to the people and with their strength behind him whipped the legislature into line.

This political history is of special interest when one reads the statement by Colonel Lowden, candidate for governor, in expressing his position on the local option question. Here is what Colonel Lowden says in his platform: "I shall sign a county option bill if passed by the general assembly and will make no attempt to influence its members in its favor or against it."

It has been urged in some quarters that Colonel Lowden is a candidate of the wet forces, but that unequivocal statement, voiced in like language with that which Governor Hughes gave to the people of New York, contradicts the story. The Lowden position is clear on this subject and he has made an open pledge not to use his influence for or against local option legislation. A fair, square deal is what the local option leaders have asked in the past. That scores of dry leaders take no stock in the effort to question the Lowden attitude on this subject is proved by a study of the forces behind the Lowden candidacy. Man after man could be named now supporting Colonel Lowden who were dry members of the legislature when the present local option bill was given life.

Two Morgan Candidates

In the present primary contest Morgan county has two candidates who are seeking nomination as members of the legislature on the Republican ticket. M. L. Hildreth announced his candidacy many months since and has received a great deal of encouragement from residents of both Sangamon and Morgan counties. Mr. Hildreth has been an active party worker for a great many years and has always been willing to do his part in political work. He is a man of many excellent qualities and if he does not secure the nomination, that fact will be a great disappointment to many people not only in his home county but in Sangamon, where he has had many assurances of support.

Hugh Green of the firm of Worthington, Reeve & Green, who is also seeking the nomination, is much newer in Republican party ranks in Morgan county but has taken an ac-five interest in political affairs since this city became his place of residence after graduation from Illinois college. Mr. Green is a well esteemed member of the Morgan county bar and in the present contest is making a very active canvass in both counties of the district.

It has always been the Journal's policy to refrain from special activity in the interest of one candidate over another in a primary election. All good Republicans have the right to seek party preferment and this rule applies to these two Morgan county men, altho it is a patent fact that not more than one of them can be nominated. Both men are competent for the office they are seeking and have records as Republicans that entitle them to party support. In not recommending one of these candidates above the other the Journal is consistent in the effort to give all Republicans a fair deal in primary elections, which should always be friendly contests within the party.

Enlists Country in "America First" Campaign

The United States Bureau of Education in the Department of the Interior has begun its nation-wide campaign to induce 3,000,000 non-English speaking immigrants to attend night school and learn the language of America.

The Commissioner of Education has designated men dealing with the immigrant's problems from every angle to serve on a National Committee of One Hundred to further the purposes of the campaign. This action is the result of resolutions adopted by two Americanization conferences held during the recent meetings of the National Education Association in Detroit and in New York, at which times it was decided that the removal of the inability of the foreign-born residents to speak English could be hastened by concerted effort and co-operation of all interested agencies and individuals working intensively on a nation-wide basis prior to the opening of evening schools in October.

Letters of appointment have been sent to representative industrial leaders, educators, labor and immigration officials, state officials, editors, officers of patriotic, civic and racial organizations and public spirited citizens in every section of the United States. The function of the committee will be to cooperate with the Bureau in enlisting the active interest of school superintendents, chambers of commerce, commercial organizations, industrial establishments, labor unions, and private organizations.

For the purpose of enlisting native and foreign-born American citizens in the "America First" Campaign an enrollment blank headed "Sign this card and join the Americanization movement" will be used. Thousands of these cards, asking each signer for his personal help, will be disseminated in states and cities where immigrants reside. Thru the active assistance secured in this manner the Bureau expects to be able to reach thousands of immigrants which it could reach in no other way. Co-operating sub-committees will be appointed in the principal immigrant communities.

FRESH OYSTERS .. BARR'S OYSTER HOUSE.

MR. ALEXANDER FINDS LOWDEN SENTIMENT STRONG

W. L. Alexander, now of Chicago, spent Saturday in Jacksonville on his way to Scott county to visit his farm. Residence in some other city other than Jacksonville has not lessened Mr. Alexander's interest in politics and he is now an enthusiastic supporter of Colonel Lowden, candidate for Republican nomination for governor. Mr. Alexander said last night that when he returns to Chicago a few days hence that he will report to Lowden headquarters that the sentiment in this county is strong for the Ogle county man in a marked degree. Mr. Alexander interviewed at least 2000 Republicans Saturday and said that he found at least 190 of them were openly in favor of Colonel Lowden's candidacy. Mr. Alexander says that the reports received in Chicago give a real basis for believing that Lowden will carry 100 counties out of the 102 in the state.

FARM HAND INJURED NEAR PISGAH STATION

Henry Dyer Falls from Burlington Train and Receives Bad Wounds.

Henry Dyer, a farm hand employed by J. E. Curry of Pisgah, was severely injured Saturday afternoon when he fell from a coal car which he was riding on the C. B. & Q railroad one mile west of Pisgah. He received severe wounds about the head and painful bruises about the body.

How Mr. Dyer fell is a mystery. He does not remember any of the particulars. He only knew that he was riding on the top of one of the coal cars and that he must have fallen off. His coat was found some distance from where he had fallen. Two severe scalp wounds had been received and his left ear was cut almost entirely off.

Bruises about the body also caused considerable suffering. He was brought to Passavant Hospital where he was resting well last night.

The past advance in prices in all lines has operated in a retail way so as to cause us to look the market over more carefully than ever before.

The result is that fully one-half of our full lines show equal values with those offered a year ago.

We want to keep our prices down. We have succeeded remarkably well. A visit to our store and comparison of values will convince you.

We can still furnish a first class felt mattress in first class tick for less than $10.00.

We have genuine duo fold davenports at the same prices as a year ago.

Dressers at old prices and even better values.

In fact, most of the things you will want this fall can be bought here as reasonably as ever.

OLETA CAMPLIN KILLS CHARLES GRANNISON

RIFLE WAS ACCIDENTALLY DISCHARGED IN PLAY.

Shooting Occurs At Residence of Albert Fountain In South Fayette Street—Woman States She Did Not Know Gun Would Shoot.

She didn't know it was loaded and pulled the trigger and as a result Charles, alias "Shorty" Grannison is dead and Oleta Camplin who did the shooting is in hysterics.

The shooting occurred at the residence of Albert Fountain, 611 outh Fayette street Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The fatality came as a result of playing between Grannison and the Camplin woman. After several slaps had been passed between the two the woman picked up the gun and pointed it at Grannison and pulled the trigger. The bullet struck Grannison directly in the forehead and he lived only a few minutes afterward. Immediately after the shooting Leonora Fountain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fountain who was the only one present aside from Grannison and the woman, telephoned for Dr. W. P. Duncan. When Dr. Duncan arrived Grannison was still alive but died a few moments later.

Oleta Camplin Tells of Shooting. When seen by a reporter for the Journal Saturday afternoon the Camplin woman was hysterical but managed to tell her version of the shooting. She said: "I met Grannison here where I had come to telephone and we began to joke and play. He slapped me and I slapped him back. We kept on playing and I picked up what I thought was a toy rifle and pressed it against his breast. Then he went across the room and sat down and in play I pointed the rifle at him and it was discharged.

"At first I did not know that the shot had hurt him. However, Lenora Fountain came in the room and said, 'Oh, you have shot him.' Grannison was sitting upright in the chair. Help was summoned and a doctor was called.

"I had no idea the gun would shoot or I would not have touched it. I had seen the gun lying about the house but supposed it was a toy gun. The shooting was purely accidental."

Leonora Fountain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fountain at whose home the shooting occurred, told a similar story. She said she was attracted by the report of the gun and when she entered the room saw the charge had struck Grannison. She telephoned to Dr. Duncan and also called assistance from the neighborhood.

One of First On Scene. Samuel Harris, who drives the Journal automobile, was one of the first on the scene. Harris said he happened to be in the neighborhood and was called, the parties saying that something had happened in the Fountain house.

Harris said he asked what the trouble was and was told to come and see. He said he went to the Fountain home and found Grannison sitting in a chair. Harris said that he was asked to help move him and put him on a bed but that he refused, saying that what was needed was an undertaker and the coroner.

The police were notified as also was the coroner and the police went to the scene and found the facts as stated in the foregoing. Coroner Wright had the remains moved to the undertaking parlors of J. G. Reynolds and an inquest will be held this morning at 9 o'clock.

The dead man came to this city from Peoria about ten years ago. He has been continually in the employ of the Dunlap hotel as porter and working in the kitchen. He was about 40 years of age and was a hard working and industrious man.

Gun of Peculiar Mechanism. The gun with which the shooting was done is of peculiar construction. It consists of several skeleton tubes and looks like an air gun. It is what is known as a skeleton rifle. A. M. Masters who inspected the weapon at the Reynolds undertaking establishment said he had never seen one like it. Mr. Masters is an expert in the matter of firearms but he confessed that he did not understand the mechanism of the gun.

Hillier's Dry Goods store will close at 12 o'clock tomorrow, Labor Day.

IN MEMORY OF JULIA SMITH
Thru all pain at times she'd smile
A smile of heavenly birth;
And when the angels called her home
She smiled farewell to earth.
Heaven retaineth now our Treasure,
Earth the lonely casket keeps;
And the sunbeams love to linger,
Where our sainted Julia sleeps.

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low;
Thou no more will join our number,
Thou no more our sorrows know.
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
And in Heaven with joy to greet thee
Where no farewell tears are shed.

There was an angel band in heaven,
That was not quite complete;
So God took our darling Julia
To fill the vacant seat.
—A Friend.

THEY WANTED THE OLD SOLDIERS

A few years succeeding the war of the rebellion not a great deal was thought of the old soldier for some reason or other nor did they seem to think so much of each other. As the writer now recalls it was some time in the 60's that at a public meeting of some kind Capt. J. T. Bowen of this city said there should be some sort of a society or an organization of the veterans of the late war but his suggestion met with little encouragement and nothing was done.

When the Grand Army of the Republic was first organized it wasn't managed as well as it should have been managed and failed to thrive as was proper, but later when it was in a manner reorganized and on the right basis, it has been a strong force for good and a great satisfaction to the comrades who are able to meet socially and touch elbows. The Women's Relief Corps, too, has done a noble work and deserves great praise.

On and after Sept. 1, my business will be on a strictly cash basis. C. N. Preest, The Ford Man.

SENATOR JAMES ELOQUENT WHEN WILSON IS NOTIFIED

Kentucky Senator Was Spokesman for Democratic Committee That Called at Shadow Lawn.

Shadow Lawn, N. J., Sept. 2.—Hon. Ollie M. James, in his address notifying President Woodrow Wilson of his nomination for president by the Democratic party, said:

"Mr. President: The Democracy of the Republic assembled in national convention at St. Louis, Mo., June 14, 1916, was genuinely representative of the true spirit of America—its ideals of justice and of patriotism.

"These representatives of the purest democracy in the world, after a trial of three and a half years of your service to the people of the country, instinctively and enthusiastically turned to you. By this they not only registered their own will and desire, but also the wish and will of the people back home, whose trusted and honored spokesmen they were. With an enthusiasm, unanimity, and earnestness never surpassed in the political life of America, they have summoned you again to lead the hosts of peace, prosperity, and American righteousness.

A Call to Service
"They do not make this call upon you for the purpose of honoring you, for you have already had bestowed upon you by your countrymen the greatest honor within their gift. They call you for service to America and mankind; a service you have so amply proved to be of the highest type known to just governments among men; a service that has given justice to all men upon free and equal terms; a service that has restored taxation to its historic and constitutional function; service that has freed trade to individual and honest endeavor; a service that has lifted from the tables and homes of the plain people of America a burden of taxation which they have unjustly borne for more than a half century and placed it upon the wealth and fortunes of the land; a service that has driven monopoly from its rendezvous of taxation; a service that has denied to the trusts of Republican creation a hiding place in our economic life; a service to the toilers of America that lifted them from the despised level of a commodity to the high plane of a human unit in our industrial life; a service that has dignified them—the great army of workers of the field, factory, and mine; a service that opened the courts to all men upon equal terms of justice and constitutional liberty; a service that freed the money of the nation from the control of a 'money oligarchy' and lodged it in the hands of the government; a service that at once destroyed two trusts, a Money Trust and a Panic Trust, where the business can not be oppressed or destroyed by manipulation of the money market, nor legislation controlled, intimidated, or suppressed by the Panic Trust. These two trusts that your service and matchless leadership destroyed live only in memory, as contemporary with the malodorous rule of the boss-ridden and monopoly controlled standpat Republican party.

His Place in History
"When peace shall spread her white wings over a charred and bloody world, in the quiet of the chamber of the just historian, when the din and roar of political antagonism shall have ceased, when the prejudice and passion of partisanship shall have died away, when principle shall actuate men and parties rather than appetite, when ambition shall no longer lure men and parties to unjust attack, the historian will accord to you and your administration a foremost place in the Republic's life.

"Americans are not ungrateful; the people are not unpatriotic; they recognize the thousands of difficulties that no man could foresee which you have encountered and mastered. Their verdict is already written; it has been agreed upon at the firesides of the land and has been molded in the schoolhouses, the places of worship, and wherever Americans meet to talk over the affairs and good of their country. The verdict leaps forth from almost every American heart in undying gratitude to you for the service you have rendered, for the peace, prosperity and happiness your leadership has given, and I but voice this day the overwhelming wish of Americans everywhere for your triumphant reelection.

"This great convention which nominated you was neither controlled nor intimidated by any un-American or foreign influence. It had the heart beat and spoke the true sentiment of our country.

"A committee composed of the permanent chairman of the convention and one delegate from each State and Territory was appointed to inform you of your selection as the nominee of the Democratic Party for President of the United States and to request you to accept it, and the convention did me the honor to make me chairman of this committee charged with such a happy mission.

"Therefore, in compliance with the command of that convention, this committee performs that pleasant duty, and, as the appointed agent of that great National Democratic Convention, I hand you this formal letter of notification, signed by the convention, and upon that platform I have the honor to request your acceptance of the tendered nomination. And, on behalf of the Democrats of the whole Republic who are proud of your great administration, we pledge you their enthusiastic and united support, and our prayer is that God who blesses the peacemaker may guide you to a glorious victory in November.

CAMP FIRE CLINCHES HIS RIGHT TO TWO YEAR OLD CROWN

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—By winning the rich futurity stakes at six furlongs over the Belmont Park race track today, Richard L. Wilson's chestnut colt Camp Fire by Olambale-Nightfall clinched his right to the two year old crown.

Carrying the top weight of 115 pounds with Johnny McTaggart riding, Camp Fire won by half a length from H. P. Whitney's Rickety, with H. H. Hewitt's Skeptic third, two lengths away.

The winners time was 1:13 4-5 and the value of the stakes was $22,950, of which the winner's share, $17,340, went to Owner Wilson. Second money amounted to $2,366 and $1,133 went to the third horse.

There were ten starters, with Camp Fire the favorite.

Breaking from the outside position at the start Camp Fire was taken to the middle of the track by McTaggart, when he took the lead and held it to the end. Just once, in the final furlong, Camp Fire's jockey flashed his whip and the colt responded gamely.

Other starters finished in the following order:

Vivid, Tumbler, Deer Trap, Pleasant Dreams, Maderia, Burlesque and Star Finch.

LIVE STOCK IN RELATION TO FARM MANAGEMENT

In a recent talk Professor W. F. Handschin, head of the Farm Management department of the University of Illinois, said that it has been shown conclusively thru the means of the cost accounting systems being tried on over a large area of the state under his direction, that the live stock farms are the ones that are returning the highest rates of interest on the investment.

He stated that it is generally supposed that the bulk of Illinois prairie and is too high priced to allow the handling of live stock. However, their investigations have shown that it is too high priced NOT to grow live stock on. Many instances were cited where farmers are keeping account records of the value of feeding crops grown on their farms. The live stock farms have been more profitable than the strictly grain farms. Some of the stock men have been able to show a return of 8 to 10 per cent on the total valuation.

The cost of horse and man labor was pointed out as the most important factor in farm returns. This cost is necessarily high on grain farms as the equipment is idle the rest of this year. On stock farms the work covers a larger portion of the year and for that reason the labor problem can be handled much more economically.

Professor Handschin stated that his work covering a period of several years in three states, has shown that the four main advantages of the live stock system are as follows:

1. Utilizing of rougher lands to better advantage, and the utilizing of damaged feeds, corn stalks and straw.
2. Increasing of the fertility of the soil by feeding the crops raised and the careful use of manure.
3. Cutting down the cost of horse and man labor by distributing it more equally thruout the year.
4. Increasing proportion of valuable crops due to the fact that the building up of the soil by the live stock system will increase the yield.

STATE SOIL INVESTIGATION OF VALUE TO FARMERS

The state of Illinois inaugurated and is carrying out the most elaborate, far-reaching, and valuable soil investigation that has ever been attempted by any country on the globe. For some time individual farms were investigated. Demands increased and funds were not available to do the work. Finally, after due consideration, it was determined to virtually analyze the whole state almost acre by acre, and thus once for all have record of the soil constituents which should be open for questions almost as easily as a dictionary. This work has been going on for fifteen years or more and will probably require half as much time at the very least to complete it. The unit is the county and about sixty counties have been surveyed while twelve have had their complete reports published. The amount of work entailed is enormous and yet so well systematized that the cost on the acre basis is ridiculously small, being $.0072 per acre. Each county is mapped by a squad of experienced and skillful men who go over it on foot examining every difference in soil type and mapping the same on the spot. When the map making is completed large numbers of the samples of the different soils are collected and analyzed; the geological history and the climate of the county studied, the crops suitable are looked up and finally after a great deal of minute and careful labor on the part of many people the report is published. A farmer seeking to buy a piece of land and having one of these reports in his hands has an expert opinion before him, not only as to the value of the land but how to handle it and its probable returns.—Professor A. W. Jamison, University of Illinois.

Affairs in Chicago

By J. M. Swales)

that his record there is not good, for he has stood for all laws that were good and voted against all bills that had a shadow of evil about them.

His friends say that his record as a public official is without stain or reproach, which means that it is as clean as a hound's incisor. He stands solid with the women voters and that means a great deal. He is for universal suffrage without equivocation or mental reservation. In and out of the legislature he has advocated women's right to cast the ballot. It's pretty hard to beat that kind of a man. While the blessed creatures can't vote for him indirect, many of them can take their little old hobbies by the aricular appendage and steer 'em up to the polls on election day.

In addition to all this he has the backing of ex-Governor Charles S. Deneen and the progressives who are lining almost solidly with the G. O. P. The ex-governor is a power in Chicago politics and his friends all over the state point with pride to his record of eight years as the executive of a state which gave us a Lincoln, a Grant and a Logan.

The ex-governor is now stumping Chicago for Senator Hull and delivering sledge hammer blows for the cause of good government in the state of Illinois, all of which is represented in the person of Senator Morton D. Hull. Those who are in a position to prognosticate on the situation right at this time say the fight is between Lowden and Hull, with the chances in favor of the latter on account of Lorimer and his gang being for the Ogle county man.

There are several candidates for congress in the Sixth district, and this fact may be the cause of the blood one's election. He says he wants to "come back" so that he can pay the depositors of the La Salle street bank the money they lost when the bank went to the wall and to smash while he was president of the institution. How long would it take him to pay the hundreds of thousands of dollars on a salary of $7,500 per annum Do your own figuring.

Chicago is all torn up over the and setting civilization back a thousand sorts of conjectures are in the air as to what will happen when the nation is paralyzed by the strike of the railroad brotherhoods. Whatever may be the result of the national calamity, in case the strike takes place, the common people, meaning the consumer, will suffer most and finally foot the bill. The great railroad strike in 1877 will be as nothing compared to a complete tie up at this time. It would be like comparing our civil war to the cataclysm that is now gripping the old world and setting civilization back a thousand years. We seem to be living in a perilous period of the world's history and that the old axiom of "whom the gods would destroy they first make mad," is holding good (or bad) in these days of turmoil and unrest.

All this reminds one of the summer of '77 when the great railroad strike took place and all the available soldiers in the national guard were called to the colors. At that time there were two companies of the 5th regiment, I. N. G., in Jacksonville, and both were ordered to East St. Louis to protect the property of the railroads centering there. Capt. Harrison was in command of Co. I, and I had the honor of commanding Co. K, and Major C. E. McDougall was in command of a company of the same regiment from Petersburg. That was a great strike, but the national guard of Illinois "knew its duty and done it."

I took sixty-five muskets (of various calibres) to the "seat of war" and brought our company flag back "without the loss of a single star." So far as I now recall the only members of that company now living in Jacksonville are W. H. Cobb, water superintendent; Otto Eckols Cicero McEvers, James Diekman John Dailey and W. H. Stull. If there are other smay have escaped my memory. Tempes Puget, Myself, daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Freeman, have but recently returned from a five weeks outing at Twin Lakes, Wisconsin. We left Chicago just as the late torrid spell of weather struck the middle west and set it to boiling. Twin Lakes is a summer resort about 75 miles northwest of Chicago and is one of the most popular of the many resorts in Southern Wisconsin. We caught lots of fish but "the biggest ones always got away." Boating, fishing and bathing were the main features of our outing and we had the time of our lives.

It is a curious fact, but nevertheless true, that during our five weeks' stay there I never heard a word concerning politics and there were lots of men and women from many cities and towns in Illinois and Wisconsin. The thought occurred to me that old General Apathy was in charge of the presidential campaign. The old hair-tearing, throat-splitting days are past and it is a consummation devoutly to be thankful for.

September is with us once again and brings with it the cold fall rain. . . ushers out the church burgoo and ushers in the oyster stew. The chiggers too will soon be gone and the farmer will start to cutting corn. School also will be starting soon and the dog will bay the harvest moon. The football season will soon be here and its getting most too cold for beer. You can hear the candidates loudly shout as they travel the country roundabout. Men now stand around and smoke, cigars, until they nearly choke, for you see this is election year and the moochers all are full of cheer. GOMPERS' REVIEWS
YEAR'S LABOR RECORDFEDERATION HEAD SAYS 1916
HAS SEEN MARKED
PROGRESSTrade Union Movement Declared To Have Made Distinct Advances—
Shorter Hours Granted to Many Workers and Conditions Have Improved Correspondingly.

Washington, Sept. 2. — Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, made public to-night a statement on "Labor's Achievements and Issues" for 1916, in which he characterized the past year as a remarkable one in the progress of the labor movement, especially in the shortening of the working day and in general labor legislation. The statement, in full, is as follows:

"Labor Day, 1916, brings to the workers of America the right to cheer and confidence in the trade union movement. There have been tests and crises that have proved its fundamental principles; there have been opportunities that have tested its practical efficiency. Through them all the trade union movement has made sure progress and gained in confident vision for the future.

"Every national and international every local union affiliated to the American Federation of Labor has made definite progress in securing for its members greater advantages in those things which are fundamental of betterment in all relations of life. In some organizations the success has been phenomenal.

Progress for Shorter Hours.

"Taking the labor movement as a whole there has been greater progress in securing the eight-hour day or the shorter working day than in any other similar period of time. The meaning of these victories can be interpreted only in the light of full understanding of the meaning of the eight hour day. The shorter work day is something more than an economic demand. It is a demand for opportunity for rest, recuperation, and development; things which make life more than mechanical drudgery. "The workers whose whole periods are short are essentially different from those who are so worn by toil that they have neither energy nor mind for other things in life. They become more energetic, more resourceful workers with keener mentality and greater producing power. It inevitably follows that the short hour workers are the best paid workers. With every reduction in hours there is always a corresponding increase in wages. Wherever demands for the shorter workday and higher wages have been presented and urged by organized workers during the past year, they have met with success. These economic gains have a potent relation to the social side of life.

Hours of Labor and Wages.

"Shortening the period of work lengthens the period of development and for all of the other activities that belong to the normal individual. Increases in wages give the workers the means for taking advantage of the increased opportunities of the shorter workday. The workers of short hours and better wages become very different citizens from those who are so exhausted by the daily grind that they have neither the time nor the energy for thought nor aspiration. These gains mean better homes, better food, better clothing; time and opportunity for the cultivation of the best and the highest that is possible in the life of man.

"Economic achievements are the basis upon which the workers can secure social and political progress. The power which secures these achievements is the power that will secure justice for them in every other relation. Shorter hours and higher wages give the opportunity and the means to live better and more purposeful lives.

"Power through economic organization means political power. There must be an economic basis in order to give political activity reasons for existence and a program. By organizing and by adhering strictly to a non-partisan political program, the American Federation of Labor has won glorious legislative victories.

"The object of legislation which organized labor has sought to obtain is always to establish larger and better opportunities for life and freedom. Organized labor does not seek through legislation to do things for the workers that they can do for themselves. It only seeks to establish for them opportunities. This principle applies to workers in private industry. In the case of workers in governmental employment where the government is the employer and conditions of employment can be fixed only by legislation, then the organized labor movement seeks to do something more than merely establish opportunity. It must secure legislation regulating conditions of employment.

The Record Since 1906.
"The record of the legislative achievements of the labor movement since 1906 when the non-partisan political party was inaugurated is one of splendid victories. The two most important are the Seamen's Act and the labor sections of the Clayton Anti-Trust law. The greatest thing in both these acts is the advancement of human freedom.

"The problem of human freedom was not ended by the work of Lincoln. There still remained a class bound to involuntary servitude, the seamen. The Seamen's Act brings freedom to these workers. It makes American soil sacred to freedom, a country upon which a bondsman may not step without losing his legal fetters. Freed and given an opportunity to protect themselves, the seamen are pressing their demands for higher wages and better conditions. Section 6 of the Clayton Anti-Trust Act contains the most advanced concept of freedom. 'The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce.'

"According to old time philosophy, political economy, and legal thought, labor power was a commodity and article of commerce in no way different from coal, potatoes and iron. Under this concept the most recent attempts have been made to hold workers in oppression and under the domination of employers, but the power to produce commodities is something different from the commodities themselves. It is personal, human, a part of life itself. Under the concept that labor was a commodity, and therefore property, employers have tried to repress efforts of workers for progress and for larger liberty by punishing these efforts under anti-trust legislation and by attempting to restrain them through the injunctive process. It was to protect the workers against these abuses and to establish recognition of the concept that the workers and all of their attributes were human, that the labor sections of the Clayton Act were enacted. In addition to these big achievements many other important humanitarian laws have been enacted by Congress increasing in number with every session of Congress since the 59th session.

Campaign Issues.

"As Labor Day, 1916, comes in one of the most critical political campaigns since the Civil war period it is well to call attention to the big issue of the campaign which has a national, as well as an international relation. The issue is to the attitude of the political parties toward questions of humanity and human welfare. The party now in power has in its legislative achievements placed the highest valuation upon human life and human attributes that has ever been declared and enacted by any political party in power.

"The question that concerns the workers is how to hold their present advantages and how to secure from political parties still greater opportunities for freedom. The thing which is fundamental is Section 6 of the Clayton Anti-Trust Act, the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce. The representatives of the American Federation of Labor went to the political parties and asked them to declare themselves upon this principle. The answers that the political parties gave are in their platforms where all may read.

"The Democratic party openly and favorably declared and emphasized its position. The Republican party took no notice of labor's request that they declare themselves upon that which the workers considered of greatest importance to them.

"The international issue that now comes closest to the labor movement is the policy of our government toward Mexico. The cause of human welfare is in the balance in Mexico. The people there are trying to work out their own problems and to establish their own ideals of political, social and economic justice. The labor movement in Mexico has developed; that is, the most power and the most constructive product of the revolution. Representatives of the labor movement of Mexico have joined the representatives of the labor movement of America to insure to the workers and citizens of Mexico the rights of human beings, opportunities for freedom and for independence. Many of the problems of the Mexican workers are problems of the workers of the United States. Their welfare is our welfare. The boundary line between the two countries is only an artificial division that has little or no effect upon the course and the nature of industrial and commercial development.

The Mexican Issue.

"The problem of industrial welfare in the state of the southwest is largely a Mexican problem. With low standards of life and work prevailing upon the 15,000,000 of Mexicans there exists an obstacle to the establishment of higher standards within the United States. There are capitalists and exploiting interests of the United States who, because they have property in Mexico (often corruptly and dishonestly obtained) desire to maintain governmental agencies by which they can hold the people in subjugation and deny to them the opportunity for protecting themselves through the organized labor movement and other opportunities for growth and development. These selfish exploiting interests are concentrating their political power in the present campaign to secure a different policy on the part of our government toward Mexico. Even under the guise of intervention, no matter how unnecessary and unwarrantable the advocates of that policy really aim at the conquest and annexation of Mexico. A few of the most reckless, such as the Otis and Hearst interests, come out brazenly in the demand for intervention, invasion, conquest and annexation of Mexico. Of course, every effort must be made to safeguard the lives and the property of our people living along the border line, but who can honestly say that the Mexican marauders were the only offenders. The allied forces of greed and profit would deny the Mexican people the opportunity for their development; they would gladly enfold the United States in an unnecessary and unwarrantable war with Mexico. To them property, property rights, profits are shield far more sacred than human beings, international honor and human liberty.

"These are some of the issues that primarily concern the workers and all liberty loving citizens of the United States; they are the issues upon which every wage earner—every citizen—will make his own decision, not only in his everyday activity, but also at the polls on election day."

Miss Helen Grain has returned to her home in Roodhouse after a visit of a week with friends and relatives in the city.

PAIGE
The Standard of Value and Quality

A Line of Champions

In every type of contest—on road, track and hill—Paige cars have consistently demonstrated their "stamina," speed and reliability.

To be sure, there are specially built racing cars that can travel faster than the Paige, but there is no car on the American market that will travel farther at sustained speed—and that is the real test of automobile efficiency.

We have never attempted to build a car that will go faster than 65 miles an hour. But we have always taken pains to build a car that will go twenty-four hours in the day—seven days in the week.

You see, we are old fashioned enough to believe that rugged strength—staying power—is the best thing that a manufacturer can put into his car. And, so do you.

Are you interested in proof—the kind of proof that is based on actual performance? Then, consider the recent mountain climbing record established by a Paige "Fairfield Six-46" at Mount Hood, Oregon on July tenth.

Starting with a large field of competitors, the "Fairfield" was the first car of the year to reach Government Camp where it was awarded the Pridemore Silver Trophy. This is a grueling climb in itself—the classic event of the north west.

But that is not all of the story by any means.

Despite the dire warnings of everyone at the Camp, that same Paige then turned its nose toward the clouds and battered its way to an elevation of 9500 feet above the sea level—more than a quarter of a mile beyond the timber line—three miles farther up Mount Hood than any motor car had ever climbed before.

There never was a more terrific battle in the annals of mountain climbing. At times, the "Fairfield" was completely sheathed in ice, and, when it finally came to a halt, that stout-hearted champion was resting on a sixty per cent grade.

Impossible, you say. Then, please consult the official records as published in every newspaper on the coast. And a little bit later, perhaps, you may have an opportunity to actually witness this thrilling climb on the screen at your favorite moving picture theatre.

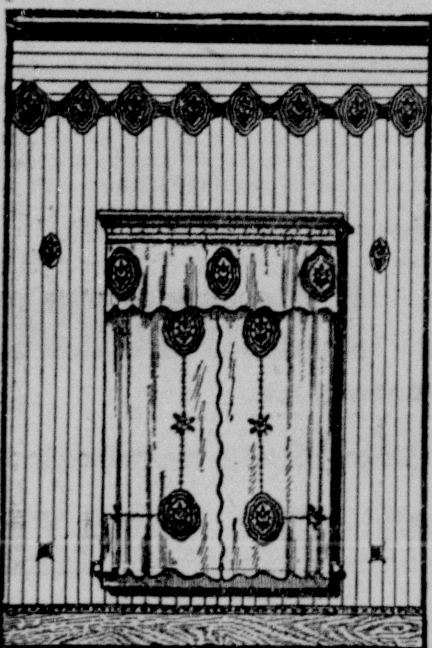

But, best of all, make it a point to see this New Series Paige "Fairfield" at the salesroom of the local dealer. One glance will convince you that it is a thoroughbred. A single demonstration will settle your particular automobile problem for all time.

For Paige owners are satisfied owners. They have "arrived."

HUGHES IN COLORADO

I sat with Charley on a peak that overlooked the Thompson gorge; he was so thrilled he could not speak, and I could only say, "By George!" The abyss spread for leagues below, a fissure scooped out by the gods, and we could see the tourists go, on cravens vain, to spend their wads. The sinking sun's expiring beams the canon stained with gold and red, and I was lost in noble dreams, when Charley raised his voice and said: "Man's whiskers are a precious boon, awarded by divine decree, but he is a thoughtless loon who'd shave them off with snickersnee. I hold it sinfully unwise to stain one's whiskers brown or black, with chemicals or any dyes compounded by immoral quack. If all the money spent for shaves were used to swell poor widows' means, those widows now would cleave the waves in their own private submarines. The voices of the birds were weird, strange whispers issued from the trees, and through the statesman's germ-proof beard there blew a chilly mountain breeze.

Mt. Vernon Daily Register:

Louis L. Emmerson, candidate for the nomination for Secretary of State on the Republican ticket at the primaries to be held in 1916, was born at Albion, Edwards County, Illinois, December 27, 1833. He obtained a high school education and grew to manhood there, removing to Mt. Vernon, Ill., in 1857, where he engaged in the mercantile business continuously until 1901, when he organized the Third National bank of Mt. Vernon, of which he is now and has been for some time president.

He is a member of a number of orders, among them being Knights of Pythias, Redmen, Woodmen, Elks, Loyal Order of Moose, and Masonic, in which last order he has received the thirty-third and highest degree.

East St. Louis Tribune: "From Cairo to Galena the universal expression of informed Republicans is that Lou Emmerson will have a large majority in the September primary, and it will be no surprise to see him carry 95% of the counties of the state."

Dixon Telegraph, Lee county: "When the state Republican ticket is selected you will find that Louis L. Emmerson of Mt. Vernon is one of the strongest men on the ticket."

Times-Record, Aledo, Mercer county: "L. L. Emmerson is one of the finest and most capable Republicans in Illinois. His friends may well claim for him a clean private and public life and can frankly go on record in announcing that he will make an ideal Secretary of State."

The Illinois Tradesman of Springfield, the Labor World of Decatur, the Labor Advocate of Quincy, the Labor News of Rockford, and other labor papers and journals pronounce Mr. Emmerson "fair" to organized labor, and are supporting his candidacy for Secretary of State.

CONFIDENCE OF SETTLEMENT OF RAILROAD TROUBLE LIFTS WHEAT

Close is Strong at Highest Level of the Session, a Net Advance of 2% to 4% cents—Other Leading Staples Show Gains.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Confidence that a settlement of the railway strike would be effected led to a decided upturn today in the price of wheat. The close was strong at the highest level of the session, a net advance of 2% to 4% with December at $1.47 1/2 to $1.48 and May at $1.49 1/2 to $1.49 3/4. Other leading staples, too, all showed gains—corn 1/4 to 3/8, oats 1/4 to 1/2 and provisions 15 to 50.

All pressure to sell wheat was absent from the outset and instead signs developed that foreign demand had again become urgent. Indeed cash premiums paid by exporters were the highest of any time this season. In addition to the fact that shipping business had already improved and was expected to be much better the coming week the pressure of frost in Canada tended also to give an advantage to the bulls. Reports were at hand too that very little plowing had been done so far in Oklahoma and the predictions were for a poor crop there next year under conditions soon underwent a radical change. Corn like wheat showed a broad general demand. Some export business was done and commission house buying was of a good class.

Oats displayed independent strength owing to announcement that the British government had taken 1,000,000 bushels here for lake shipment. Speculators and packers were active buyers of provisions. Optimism in regard to the railroad situation acted as more than offset for a decline which took place in the hog market.

Are You Prepared?

Did you insure your health this summer? Did you "cut loose" from your daily routine and give yourself a thorough physical and mental overhauling and toning up? Did you take a good vacation?

If not, hadn't you better do your full duty to yourself and take a vacation this fall? The autumn months are perfectly delightful in the mountains out West—Colorado—Utah—Wyoming—Montana. A camping trip's just the thing. The weather is very dependable, the fishing and hunting good—these combined with the scenic attractions and tonic atmosphere make camp life positively ideal.

Think this over—It's worth while when come in and I'll help help you plan your trip.

RUNNING FOR OFFICE
IS NO EASY TASK

CANDIDATES FULL OF BUSINESS
IN FINAL DAYS OF PRIMARY.

Interest In State, District and County Situation Grows Apace — Only Real Fortunate Contestants are Those Running Without Opposition — End of the Race Sept. 15.

When the sun goes down Wednesday, September 13, and the polls close for the primary election in Illinois, great sighs of relief will go up from hundreds of citizens who are seeking office. It is safe to predict that these sighs will come even from those candidates who have the feeling that they are not going to be successful, for the strain of the primary campaign has been great. The first interest naturally centers about the governorship contest on the Republican ticket. Speaking in a state wide sense, there is little interest save among Republican candidates because it is an accepted fact that Illinois will this fall return to its accustomed place in the Republican column.

Lowden Has Lead

While Colonel Frank O. Lowden is generally conceded as having a big lead for the governorship nomination, the activities of Colonel Frank Smith of Dwight and Senator Morton D. Hull of Chicago have not been abated. In the first place, Colonel Lowden did not announce his candidacy until canvassing work had been in progress for months and he had been presented with a petition containing the names of nearly 350,000 voters who urged him to become a candidate. The most notable thing about his campaign other than its thoroughness has been the consistent policy of refraining from all criticism of Senator Hull and Colonel Smith. The vitriolic attacks of Senator Hull have brought forth not a single answer and it has evidently been Colonel Lowden's belief that "a soft answer turneth away wrath." Anyhow, he has adhered to the policy of being "for" Lowden and not "against" anybody else.

Some impetus has been given the Hull candidacy by endorsement of the anti-saloon league. Colonel Smith is acknowledged to have considerable down state strength, but, as already indicated, the majority of the political prognosticators agree that Lowden has a strong lead. Underlying the whole contest is the general understanding that the Hull campaign is really the surface indication of a struggle on the part of Ex-governor Deneen and his followers to retain their hold on the Cook county organization.

Four for Attorney General

The contest for the attorney generalship nomination is also attracting a vast amount of interest. This contest became much livelier following the somewhat unexpected endorsement by the anti-saloon league of the candidacy of George H. Wilson of Quincy. At any rate, this endorsement was not expected by Walter M. Provine of Taylorville, who, like Mr. Wilson, has during his legislative record been consistently identified with anti-saloon legislation. Richard Barr of Joliet was one of the first in the field for this nomination and is credited with a large amount of down state strength in addition to that which he has in Will and Cook counties and other territory in the northern part of the state. But the friends of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Provine are confident that the later candidacy of Edward J. Brundage of Chicago will have the effect of splitting the Barr strength in northern Illinois and thus benefit the down state candidates.

Locally and in some other parts of the state it can be said truthfully that the question of who will be nominated for auditor is more absorbing even than the question as to the governorship. Andrew Russell as candidate for auditor is waging a campaign with his well known vigor. His activities are touching every one of the 102 counties of the state in a thorough manner. His principal opponent is Homer J. Tice of Greenview. Mr. Tice, thru his long term of service as a member of the legislature and his connection with the much talked of Tice good roads law, has a very large acquaintance. He has for years been an intimate friend of Senator Sherman and at the state convention his campaign was given the impetus which came from being heralded as "one of the slate" agreed upon for state offices. Still another candidate for this office is Julius Johnson of Princeton, who until a few months ago was an employee in a department of the state treasurer's office. Mr. Johnson is a Swede and has quite a large following of friends in northern Illinois. The real contest for the nomination is between Mr. Russell and Mr. Tice, with the odds in favor of the Jacksonville man. This estimate is based upon Mr. Russell's political friendships in Cook county and down state, a study of previous elections showing his strength. In 1914 when he was a candidate for the state treasurer's office he received 38,147 more votes than his nearest competitor.

There were five candidates. Small vs. Keys. The race for treasurer is between Len Small of Kankakee and George E. Keys of Springfield. Mr. Small is such an experienced politician and has given such good service in the positions he has held at other times that his nomination is often predicted. He is a farmer and a banker and knows almost as many people in Chicago as he does in his home territory around Kankakee. Mr. Keys is a Springfield banker, chairman of the Sangamon county Republican club, and withal a very high class young man. By some means or other Louis L. Emerson of Mr. Vernon has from the very first had a cinch on the nomination for the important office of secretary of state. Mr. Emerson has been considered in previous years for various other offices but has not held any state position. He is prominent in lodge and church affairs and is a man of the highest type. For months past his election has been practically conceded, although he has some opposition in the candidacy of Howard Jayne of Monmouth.

The Legislative Situation.

Getting down nearer home, there is a lot of interest in the legislative situation. M. L. Hildreth of Jacksonville was really the first candidate to announce himself either in Morgan or Sangamon county. More than a year ago Mr. Hildreth received endorsement at a meeting of the Morgan County Central committee and since that time has been letting the voters of the two counties know that he would like to represent them in the next general assembly. Mr. Hildreth was given early assurance of support in Sangamon county, various party leaders there coming out with published statements that they thought it was time for Morgan county to have recognition and that they would willingly support Mr. Hildreth. As a long time faithful and conscientious worker in the ranks of the Republican party here at home Mr. Hildreth expects to get hearty support and this, supplemented with the definite promise of assistance from Sangamon leaders, has given him reason for the hope that he will be elected.

About two months ago Hugh Green of the firm of Worthington, Reeve & Green, decided that he also would be a candidate for the general assembly. Two years ago Mr. Green was a candidate and his campaign work was so successful that he was given twice as many votes in Sangamon county as he received at home and came near to election. Mr. Green has some very unique forms of advertising and his candidacy has been received with favor by a great many Republicans in both counties. He is an able lawyer and has an excellent record.

Sangamon County Candidates.

In Sangamon county, where about two-thirds of the voters of the district reside, naturally the candidates are more numerous. Thomas E. Lyon, who has been a member of the legislature for several years, is seeking re-election. Then there is I. S. Dunn of Divernon, who is advertised widely as a "dry countryman" who is familiar with state affairs, and W. A. Cavey, extensive land owner and well known citizen.

In the district the interest surrounding the Democratic aspirants is fully as great as the Republicans for it is "anybody's fight" from a party standpoint. On the Democratic ticket E. L. Merritt, who has served several terms is seeking reelection. He is a plain old line Democrat and will tell you so. Jacob Frisch, formerly chairman of the Sangamon county board of supervisors, is another candidate and is considered formidable. Judge Clarence Jones, who was defeated for the nomination four years ago, is giving the voters a chance to redeem themselves. Still another Democrat willing to serve the district is Attorney John W. Sheehan, who while a resident of Jacksonville was a member of the city council, serving from the first ward.

While it is a merry contest in the district, frankness compels one to admit that the chances are in favor of the Sangamon county candidates because of the much larger vote there. Sangamon county people are not noted for their generosity when it comes to dividing up with Morgan county, but the hope of Messrs. Hildreth and Green—and it is not without reason—is based upon the fact that the "solid Sangamon vote" will be thus so broken up and scattered that the Morgan men may thus slip into the coveted nominations.

Coroner's Post Popular.

Locally the chances on the county ticket are equal if one may judge from the interest shown by the candidates for office. While the office of coroner is not the best paid in the county more candidates are seeking it than any other position at the disposal of the voters. There are seven of these would-be coroners, G. V. Skinner, Charles A. Rose and J. A. Crum on the Republican ticket; Jas. M. Summers, E. N. Kitner, George W. Wright and W. S. Lorton on the Democratic. At the beginning of the contest there were two others, Thomas Burnett and Phil Grant, but after looking over the field and finding how spirited was the competition these two withdrew in favor of the four other Democratic candidates.

For the office of state's attorney, the best paid in Morgan county, the competition is at least equal as regards number for there are three Republicans, Carl E. Robinson, H. P. Samuell and Fred L. Gregory, pitted against three on the Democratic ticket, Walter W. Wright, Paul P. Thompson and Edward P. Brockhouse. Judge Brockhouse was the last to enter the lists, as he did not make his announcement until the final day for filing petitions. The state's attorney used to be paid by fees but several years ago the legislature changed the law and fixed the salary of the state's attorney according to the population of the county served. In Morgan county the salary is $3,500 and the real wonder is that there are no more candidates seeking this office. While the question of wet and dry is said to have entered somewhat into this contest, it is not in any open way and every one of the six candidates will tell you that his platform includes first of all strict enforcement of the law no matter what those laws may happen to be.

The Circuit Clerkship.

Another late arrival in the list of candidates was Fred B. Henderson, who is running a race with F. Brewer for the Republican nomination. Mr. Brewer announced his candidacy a number of months ago and while there are no very strong surface indications, it is presumed that Mr. Brewer has been working very quietly in all parts of the county to secure the nomination. When he was a candidate for commissioner at the city primary in the spring of 1915 he came very near to election as a member of the Jacksonville city council. Mr. Henderson is also known to be busily engaged in his canvassing work and is no doubt endeavoring to make up for any lost time.

On the Democratic side of the house C. C. Berryman and Charles W. Boston are in the race along with Eugene D. Pyatt, who is now holding the office and is desirous of reelection. These three men have put in a hard campaign and the politicians are somewhat loath to even guess about the results. The only candidates who have a real easy time are Charles S. Magill, who is seeking the Republican nomination for county commissioner without opposition, and Earl M. Henderson, who wants once more to hold the office of county surveyor. He has no opposition.

Two Farmers Race.

The same condition about the commission does not obtain on the Democratic ticket, for R. R. Coultas, a member of the present board, has a competitor in the person of James L. McDonald. Both of these candidates have until the last year or two been actively engaged in farming. Mr. McDonald was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for assessor and treasurer two years ago and made a good showing. Mr. Coultas is credited with good campaign tactics and is said to have his political organization in smooth running order.

Anyhow, there is just about a week more of the campaign and after the ballots have been counted Wednesday night, September 13, the nominees can enjoy a few days' breathing spell before they enter upon the final contest to see who will eventually "land".

INSPECTED ROAD WORK.

James McArtie, supervising engineer for the state highway commission, was here Saturday to examine the work which has been done on the Chapin road. Mr. McArtie said Saturday that the work is progressing very satisfactorily and that the contractors are handling it in fine shape. He said that one thing that favored the work here is the co-operative spirit shown by the public in keeping off the road while the grading and other work is in progress. In some other counties contractors have had great difficulty in keeping the roads closed to traffic and this fact has interfered materially with the success of the work. If improvement work of this kind is done with the best results it is absolutely necessary for travel to be kept from the road while the work is in progress. Mr. McArtie does inspection work in sixteen counties and has recently visited Mason, Macon, Hancock and Christian counties.

L. W. CHAMBERS' LIFE CAME TO IT'S CLOSE SATURDAY

Well Known Citizen Had Long Been Identified With City — Funeral Will Be Held Monday Morning.

When the final hour came for Leonard W. Chambers Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, it was the summons for one long identified with Jacksonville affairs. It was given to Mr. Chambers to live more than the ordinary span of life for he was born in Jacksonville in 1844 and during all the succeeding years this city was his home. He was the son of the late Colonel George M. Chambers and so a member of a family very closely identified with the history of Jacksonville and Morgan county. The Chambers name has been prominent socially and in the business life of this city during nearly all its history and Leonard W. Chambers' life was such that he further established that good name.

After studying in the city schools Mr. Chambers was a student for three years in Illinois college. At the conclusion of his college course he immediately entered business life and was associated with several important business enterprises until his retirement from active work.

Mr. Chambers was rightly accounted one of Jacksonville's first citizens because he did not live unto himself. Any movement for the common good of Jacksonville or the betterment of the people found in him an earnest advocate. He was a man of strong convictions and was zealous in support of those principles which he thought to be right and well founded. It was this spirit which led him to take an active part in various charitable organizations, where his business acumen and wise judgment were of the greatest aid to his associates. He was for many years an officer of State Street Presbyterian church and there the loyalty which characterized him in other activities of life found expression.

It was while serving as postmaster of Jacksonville that Mr. Chambers extended his already wide circle of acquaintanceship, and he gave to this city a service which was notable for its efficiency. The people of the city regardless of political alignments, were of one mind as to the value of his work.

Mr. Chambers was married in 1871 to Miss Priscilla McCartney, who survives him, together with their three daughters, Mrs. James M. Dier, Mrs. Walter S. Kennedy and Miss Marie Chambers. The family home was located just in the shadow of the old Chambers homestead and the same home atmosphere, the same genuine hospitality and good cheer pervaded both. While Mr. Chambers was a man of strong opinions and firm beliefs, he was not personally aggressive. He preferred to serve in public work and places when his friends and fellow-citizens asked for such service. He was without ostentation and it was his very genuineness of life and character which gave him such recognition in the community, such a high place in the estimation of those who knew him well. To have lived earnestly, to have wrought well, is the record which Mr. Chambers has left and which his life's journey is over his good influence has not perished from the earth.

The funeral services will be held at the residence, 829 West State street at 10 o'clock Monday morning, in charge of Dr. A. B. Morey, assisted by Dr. P. S. Hayden. Interment will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

TOMATO CANNING FACTORY DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Early Session of Chamber of Commerce Directors May Act on Project—Judge Thomson Points to Factory Advantage.

The question of securing a canning factory for Jacksonville, which is occupying the interest and attention of the department of rural affairs of the chamber of commerce, was discussed informally Saturday afternoon at a meeting called at the court house. There were very few in attendance as it is somewhat difficult to enlist interest in a project of this kind without personal solicitation. The project was explained by Frank J. Heintz, Judge W. E. Thomson and H. Jay Rodgers. It was the statement of the speakers that the purpose now is simply to secure assurances from farmers and gardeners that if a canning factory is located here they will guarantee a certain acreage of tomatoes. The company has stated that as soon as a reasonable guarantee list is secured that a representative will visit this city and complete the necessary details for the opening of a factory. Contracts will be made to pay 25c a bushel for the tomatoes and at this price statistics show that the crop is profitable.

It was decided Saturday that at an early date a meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce will be held for conference on the subject and at that time a committee will probably be appointed to solicit the signatures of farmers who would agree to plan some certain acreage. The company making the proposition is one of the largest in the United States and if a factory is located here it would be of such size that it could take care of the product from a large acreage of tomatoes and the expectation would be to ship in tomatoes from an area of 25 to 30 miles.

Judge Thomson Strong for Factory. At the Saturday meeting Judge W. E. Thomson, who has had some experience with a tomato canning proposition, expressed himself as believing that the opportunity to secure this enterprise is one of the most important which has come to the attention of Jacksonville people in recent years. He made a statement in part as follows:

"The proposition made to the Chamber of Commerce in regard to locating a canning factory in this city is one that ought not to be passed by. As I understand the offer is to locate a factory here if the farmers round about will assure a sufficient acreage of tomatoes or other crops used in canning.

"Tomatoes are a big paying crop, not only furnishing a large amount of work for the farmer for which he would be well paid, but also giving him a nice profit over and above his work and expense. The main crop is harvested in August when the other work is slack and the cash returns are very welcome. The factory would doubtless put up corn, sweet potatoes and pumpkin if the amount furnished would justify.

"A canning factory is a big thing for a community in that it assures every farmer boy and girl an opportunity of planting a small tract in tomatoes or other crops and having a market for all that can be raised. This would mean expense money for all who wanted to take advantage of it even if they had to use the waste corners of the farm. It would also mean a big thing for the boys and girls of the city as they could either get work on the farm or would be used in the factory during the summer months.

"A factory here would mean a big thing for the merchants as it would put thousands and thousands of dollars in circulation and the best part of it is it would put the money in the hands of people who would spend in proper channels of trade. "Why not get busy and land this factory for Jacksonville? It would mean more money and profit for the farmers, more money for the town, more work in the community, and work for the boys and girls in the summer when there is no school to attend."
